

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

One instruction sent from a control section such as a CPU is supplied to a plurality of sensory output means in common
5 at the same time or an operation command signal to be sent to a controller for sensory means is formed by phenomenon detecting means based on a driving signal sent from another controller for sensory means. Thus, a plurality of sensory output means is reliably driven synchronously.

10